

Ditch the Tour Bus with These Three New Adventurous Tour Options

Changing your perspective can make even familiar destinations feel like uncharted territory.

HANNAH WALHOUT JUNE 22, 2018

Why drive when you can float, pedal, or just wander? The latest offerings from several veteran tour operators let you go beyond the well-trod sightseeing circuit for a more active, immersive experience.

Allard Schager/Getty Images

By Boat

With its just-launched Mallorca Flotilla, charter company Sunsail allows experienced sailors to steer themselves along the Spanish island's striking, sun-dappled coastline, led by a flagship manned by guides. The itinerary starts in Palma de Mallorca, the largest city of the Balearic Islands, sailing from harbor to harbor up to the seaside village of Port de Sóller, before turning back and visiting the national park in the nearby Cabrera Archipelago. Expect plenty of stops for swimming, hiking, and drinking sangria on the beach. Seven days from $1,962.